b. Student Enrollment Data: 45-Day ADM Report - Ms. Allen

Ms. Velna Allen provided a slideshow regarding student enrollment on the 45th day, including the following definitions and example:

Membership = The days a student is actively enrolled in a school.

ADM = The aggregate number of days in membership divided by the number of days that school is in session.

Example

A high school (HS) student who enrolled on August 17, 2021, and who is actively enrolled through October 21st, 2021, has accumulated 45 total days of membership as of October 21st, with his high school.

This high school student's days of membership are added to the days of membership of his fellow students (who may be in a different EFA funding classification/weighting). The aggregate number of days in membership divided by 45 equals the 45-Day ADM for this high school.

For the first 45 days of the 2021-22 school year, Aynor High School had an aggregate number of days in membership of 39,648. $39,648/45$ days = an ADM of 881.07, i.e., 881
