

Background Information: The Instructional Materials Division of the State Department of Education anticipates allocations to fully fund the subject areas up for adoption in the 2018-2019 school year. Selected materials will be placed in schools beginning August 2019. Recommendations are currently being made to support identified areas of Street Law, Forensic Science, Advanced Grammar and Composition, Journalism, and Speech.

All materials for this adoption went through the state public review process prior to consideration. The district adoption committee was comprised of teachers, ESOL representatives, administrators, and a parent. School-level representatives were instructed to vote based on input from all appropriate teachers in their schools.

Based on the recommendation of the district adoption committees, the following materials have been selected for use as described below:

High School Social Studies

Law Education: Street Law™: A Course In Practical Law, 9th Edition

Author: MHE McGraw Hill

High School Science

Forensic Science CP: Forensic Science: An Introduction, 4th Edition

Author: Saferstein Pearson Education, Inc., publishing as Prentice Hall

Forensic Science Honors: Forensic Science: Fundamentals and

Investigations, 2nd Edition Author: Bertino Cengage

High School English

Journalism 1,2: Scholastic Journalism, 12th Edition Author: Tate The

Goodheart-Willcox Company

Speech: Glencoe Speech Author: McCutcheon, Schaffer, et al

McGraw-Hill School Education

Advanced Grammar & Composition: Advanced Language and Literature

for Honors and Pre-AP® English Courses, 1st Edition

Author: Renee Shea Bedford, Freeman, and Worth

Action: For information only.